Although the world (and, apparently, Cleveland attendance) was focused on Sunday's tilt with Jesus Strasburg, the best pitching of the weekend was done by Fausto Carmona. Along with fellow sinkerballer Jake Westbrook, the Indians took two of three from the Nationals, and along the way learned that Austin Kearns likes facing his former teammates, that losing J.D. Martin was not really a big deal, and that Tony Sipp's pitching acumen fits snugly in a paramecium's bowel. Bring on the Mets!
