Here's a bet I would have accepted in June or July: "The Indians will win a game in September because Justin Masterson pitches seven 1-run innings while Lou Marson hits a grand slam." At a cursory glance, I would probably have accepted that bet if "in September" was replaced with "before the end of the universe." In today's B-List, Buff looks at these performances, plus Marson's golden arm, Travis Hafner's slugging bat, Luis Valbuena's eye, and Jayson Nix' Tinfoil Hat. Word.

FINAL	1	2	3
Indians (57-82)	0	0	1
Angels (66-73)	0	0	0

[redacted]