The Indians' offense was truly a one-man show last night, and it wasn't Shin-Soo Choo. Instead, Shelley Duncan played One Man Scott Kazmir PWNer as the Tribe won 4-3, and today's B-List focuses on Duncan's productive game, the good and bad of Josh Tomlin, a landmark save for Chris Perez, and some nice arms in the outfield. It also wonders whether Matt LaPorta owns a bat, how hits with RISP don't produce runs, and why certain players are trying to steal.

FINAL

1

2

3

4

5

6

7

8

9

R

H

E

Angels (70-74)

1

0

0

0

0

0

2

0

0

3

9

0

Indians (59-85)

1

0

0

1

0

2

0

0

X

4

9

0

W: Tomlin (4-3) L: PWNed (8-14) S: C. Perez (20)

[redacted]