It's National Signing Day in college football and Ohio State has signed 25 players to its 2012 recruiting class.

While things were looking bleak in early November, the hiring of Urban Meyer created a tidal wave of momentum for Ohio State on the recruiting front. The coaching staff is putting its finishing touches on one of the best recruiting classes in the country, and they might not be done just yet. But as of today, these are the 25 student athletes who will join the team in 2012.

Noah Spence - DE - 5*
Adolphus Washington - DE - 5*

Warren Ball - RB - 4*
Devan Bogard - DB - 4*
Taylor Decker - OT - 4*
Kyle Dodson - OT - 4*
Bri'onte Dunn - RB - 4*
Najee Murray - DB - 4*
Joey O'Conner - G - 4*
David Perkins - LB - 4*
Josh Perry - LB - 4*
Se'Von Pittman - DE - 4*
Armani Reeves - DB - 4*
Tommy Schutt - DT - 4*
Michael Thomas - WR - 4*
Camren Williams - LB - 4*

Jacoby Boren - G - 3*
Pat Elfein - G - 3*
Frank Epitropoulos - WR - 3*
Cardale Jones - QB - 3*
Jamal Marcus - LB - 3*
Tyvis Powell - LB - 3*
Luke Roberts - LB - 3*
Ricquan Southward - WR - 3*
Blake Thomas - TE - 3*

The Buckeyes are also in the mix for two highly rated wide receivers in Stefon Diggs and Davonte Neal. Both plan on postponing their announcements until after signing day -- but with what appears to be limited room for them in available scholarships at Ohio State, it will be an interesting situation to watch.

Stay tuned to TheClevelandFan.com for more updates.

Follow @davidreg412