Many Tribe fans know of League Park, a cozy baseball venue nestled in an east-side neighborhood dating back to the late 1800s. It was land-locked amid properties that were not for sale; this had not been a problem during the heyday of the streetcar. With the boom of the privately owned automobile in the early part of the 20th Century, however, the lack of parking areas became a logistical nightmare during Indians games. The 27,000 capacity limited attendance on some days, as well.

Municipal Stadium, built on a landfill on the downtown lakefront, was heralded as a state-of-the-art replacement for League Park. Built by Cleveland's Osborne

Hitler Leads Fete Over Ma

BERLIN, June 20 (INS).—Adolf Hitler took the lead today in wild celebrations as Germany woke to the amazed realization that Max Schmeling, the Hamburg Howitzer, had accomplished "the impossible."

While black headlines proudly blazoned the news, the reichsfuehrer sent flowers to Anny Ondra, film actress wife of Schmeling, with this message.

"Let me congratulate you. Let me congratulate you fullheartedly on the wonderful victory of your husband, our greatest boxing champion."

To Schmeling, Hitler cabled:

"Please accept my most hearty congratulations on your great success."

Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, at whose home Fraulein Ondra listened to the fight broadcast, also sent a congratulatory cablegram to Schmeling.

"I am hardly able to speak," Schmeling's wife cried when the astounding result became
