As Braxton Miller took the field with 70 seconds to play against Wisconsin, and his Buckeyes down to the Badgers 29-26, he winked at Luke Fickell and said "don't worry coach, we've got this". Miller would make a believer out of his coach four plays later, launching a 40-yard touchdown pass to Devin Smith to turn what looked like another deflating defeat into a thrilling Buckeye victory, as Ohio State held on to trip up the No. 12 Badgers 33-29 .

When Miller dashed 44 yards for a touchdown with 4:39 to play, giving the Buckeyes a 26-14 lead, the upset win for OSU looked secure. But quarterback Russell Wilson rallied a Badger offense that had struggled all night, and stunned the Buckeyes with two TD passes to Jared Abbrederis in a span of two and a half minutes to retake the lead with 1:18 on the clock.

Jordan Hall, whose fumble on a punt return had set up an earlier Wisconsin touchdown, gave the Buckeyes hope when he returned the ensuing kickoff 42 yards to the OSU 48. Four plays later, Miller would etch his name into Buckeye lore forever with a scrambling, improvised strike to a wide open Smith that had to be reviewed by officials to be sure Miller hadn’t crossed the line of scrimmage.
