Braxton Miller rushed for two touchdowns, including the longest run ever by an Ohio State quarterback, and the Buckeyes pulled away from a 20-20 third quarter tie with the last two scores of the game to get past Indiana and win their third straight Big Ten contest, 34-20.

The Hoosiers jumped out to a 10-0 first quarter lead with the help of a fumble by Miller, and were able to stay within one score of the heavily-favored Buckeyes (6-3, 3-2) until the game's final three minutes. In a contest that was supposed to be a breather against a team without a win in conference play, the Buckeyes couldn't really exhale until cornerback Travis Howard intercepted Hoosier QB Tre Roberson with four minutes left in the game, and OSU up 27-20.

The Indiana run defense was as weak as advertised, and the Buckeyes rolled up 346 yards on the ground, with three OSU rushers gaining over 100 yards for the first time since 1989. Miller's record-setting 81-yard touchdown run got OSU back to within three at 10-7 in the opening quarter, and after 46 OSU running plays, Miller (105 yds), Dan Herron (141 yds) and Carlos Hyde (105 yds) had all cracked the century mark.
